

GSA PROGRAM

Solution Summary

The General Services Administration (GSA) estimates that businesses spend between $80,000 to $130,000 in time and labor attempting to obtain a GSA schedule contract. Most third-party firms charge a flat rate with no guarantee that the business will be awarded. After getting your business registered in the System for Award Management (SAM), US Federal Contractor Registration provides a cost-effective registration service, charging businesses fairly with a pay-as-completed model.

GSA CHALLENGES

Time and Labor

Getting onto a GSA schedule is a labor and cost intensive process.

Limited Outsourcing Options

Most third-party GSA registration firms charge a flat-fee regardless if their client makes it onto a schedule or not.

Business to Government Marketing

Many businesses lack the proper marketing materials for selling to agencies through a GSA schedule.

Contact Management

An extensive amount of back-and-forth communication with the GSA is required when registering for a schedule.
